

ACS N Newsletter

Dear ACSN members,

In this issue of the Newsletter, we present you with several interesting options for visiting lecturers, courses, conferences and other interesting activities for the second half of your 2009-10 academic year. I would also like to highlight that ICCS has an agreement with Library and Archives Canada whereby, the ICCS compiles titles of publications and theses on Canada (comparative studies included) and published outside Canada. In this Newsletter you will find instructions on how to register for this unique service (under "News from ICCS"). ACSN further unveils its plans to publish a commemorative book on Dutch-Canadian relations.

Happy reading,

Amanda Helderman

ACS N@amandahelderman.com

Contents:

People and ACSN (1), News from ICCS (5), Conferences and Courses (6), Resources (8), Journals (10), Internships, Fellowships, and Awards (11), ACSN programs and deadlines (13).

ACS N

Maple Leaves and Tulips in 2010, Perspectives on 65 years' Dutch-Canadian Relations,

The 65th anniversary of the end of World War II will be celebrated in May 2010. MP Stephen Harper plans to come over with Canadian War Veterans and 2000 Canadian Highschool students. Ever since July 1, 2009 there have been talks between ACSN and Dutch Foreign Affairs in the Hague what to do to observe this important event. With the financial support of Foreign Affairs ACSN has been requested to issue a book Maple Leaves and Tulips in 2010, Perspectives on 65 years' Dutch-Canadian Relations, to be published by Barkhuis, Groningen, full-colour, hardcover. The book comprises 10 interviews with a high level of human interest content conducted by journalist Olga van Ditzhuijzen. The interviewees have special connections with Canada and the Netherlands. Included in the book are also 10 essays supplied by students from Groningen, Nijmegen en Middelburg. Some of the topics are "NATO: The Importance of Afghanistan", "In the Land of Lisbon: Canadian relations with the EU", "From G8 to G20: Expanding the Global Framework" and "Copenhagen and After: Cooping with Climate Change." The book will be presented to all Canadian guests and Dutch officials, communities and schools on May 6, 2010 in Bergen op Zoom, where a commemoration service will be held at 11.00 a.m. at the Canadian War Cemetery with 1.118 war graves.

Conny Steenman-Marcusse

The Roosevelt Academy and ACSN: Canada Talks lectures

"Canada talks" is a multidisciplinary lecture series organized by the Roosevelt Academy in partnership with the Association for Canadian Studies in the Netherlands (ACSN). On Monday October 19th, an inaugural linguistics lecture took place. Dr. Inge Genee, Associate Professor of Linguistics at the University of Lethbridge (Alberta) discussed indigenous English dialects in Western Canada in a lecture entitled "Not just 'broken English': Indigenous English dialects in Western Canada". In April 2010, prof. Ira Wagman (communication studies, Concordia, Montreal) will lecture on a highly topical subject: FACEBOOK. Please contact Ernestine Lahey for more information: e.lahey@roac.nl.

ACSNI Newsletter

Publications by ACSN members

Please send references to your publications to ACSNI@amandahelderman.com.

- Lahey, E. (2003), Seeing the forest for the trees in Al Purdy's "Trees at the Arctic Circle. BELL: Belgian Journal of English Language and Literatures (1/2003): pp. 73-83.
- Lahey, E. (2006), (Re)thinking world-building: locating the text-worlds of Canadian lyric poetry. Journal of Literary Semantics 35.2 (2006).
- Lahey, E. (2007), Megametaphorical Mappings and the Landscapes of Canadian Poetry. In: Contemporary Stylistics. Ed. M. Lambrou and P. Stockwell, London: Continuum, 2007, pp. 157-167.

PEOPLE AND ACSN

EXPERT MEETING: THE CANADIAN ARCTIC IN MOTION -15 January 2010

Self Governance in Canada's North: Nunavik and Nunavut by Cunera Buijs, Leiden

On the 26th of October an expert meeting on Nunavik and Nunavut was held at the National Museum of Ethnology in Leiden. The meeting was organized by the Canadian Embassy, the National Museum of Ethnology and the Research Group Circumpolar Cultures.

The meeting was organized in connection to the visit of two esteemed guests from the north, Pita Aatami, President, Makivik Corporation, Quebec, and Jean-François Arteau, Legal Counsel and Executive Assistant to the President of Makivik Corporation. This provided an excellent opportunity to discuss developments in Nunavik and Nunavut in the past, the present and the future.

Papers were not only presented by Pita Aatami and Jean-François Arteau, but also by Willem Rasing and Kim van Dam, members of the Dutch Research Group Circumpolar Cultures (RGCC), and by Kees Bastmeyer, a professor at the University of Tilburg, department of law. Jarich Oosten, professor in anthropology at the University of Leiden, summarised the papers and the discussions and presented concluding remarks. Cunera Buijs and Willem Rasing were the day-chairs.

The expert meeting was limited in size and was organized as a round-table session. This provided ample opportunity for discussion. 24 participants were present at the expert meeting, some of them did research among the Sami, Siberian peoples, Canadian Inuit or in Greenland. The Dutch Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Arctic Centre and several Dutch universities were represented. Comparison of the Canadian situation to other Arctic areas and views and experiences from different disciplines led to a thorough and intense discussion on the self government, identity issues, exploitation issues and political or indigenous rights.

ACSN Newsletter

The northernmost part of the world has become a major focus of global concern, of growing political attention and increasing economic importance due to climate change and global warming. The Arctic is a source of oil, gas and other minerals and therefore of relevance for the energy supply of the world. New northern areas, new fishing grounds and previously not existing transport routes will become available and are or will be the subject of new claims. The political rights in the Arctic are already now debated. Kees Bastmeyer discussed the concept of 'wilderness' as nature is often seen through qallunaat (white) eyes, and studied the possibilities of 'sustainable development' and a balance between social, economic and ecological needs, taking into account the oppositions and values of various stakeholders.

The Inuit have taken up these challenges. Recent decades have seen a process of political self-assertion through land-claims and negotiations with the territorial and federal governments, as was put forward by Willem Rasing, Jean Francois Arteau and others. Pita Aatami: "The 1975 James Bay and Northern Quebec Agreement (JBNQA), often referred to as the first comprehensive Inuit land claim in Canada, forever changed the relationship between Canada, Quebec and the Inuit of Nunavik."

Kim van Dam presented research among Canadian Inuit youth in connection to identity. Willem Rasing focussed further on elements of reinvention, re-establishing and reinforcing Inuit cultural identity. Jarich Oosten stressed the importance of a reappraisal of forms of indigenous knowledge (Inuit Qaujimagatuqangit), of cultural heritage and repatriation. Above all, the political process of negotiating land rights and self-determination has been quite successful in terms of establishing the new political entities in the Canadian North: Nunavut and Nunavik (northern Quebec). Aatami discussed the creation of Makivik Corporation, established pursuant to the JBNQA, its mandate, projects, activities and successes, including the creation of the first class Nunavik Research Centre located in Kuujuaq, regional capital of Nunavik. In December 2007 an agreement was signed by the Inuit of Quebec, the province of Quebec and the federal government which will lead to a Nunavik Regional Government. The new regional government will not be an 'Inuit government' but a 'public government', representing all citizens of Nunavik." The last decade also reveals an ongoing tendency of increasing autonomy in neighbouring Greenland.

The challenges of dealing with the impact of climate change and global warming on the land, sea, ice, weather, animals and people in the Arctic remain. These issues add to the problems of a more social, economic and psychic nature (consequences of the James Bay hydro-electric station, sustainable development, the killing of sledge-dogs, sedentarization and relocation of the Inuit population, impact of residential schools, unemployment, high drop-out rates, alcohol and drug abuse and suicide), which the Nunavut and Nunavik governments are facing at present. Pita Aatami discussed these issues as well: "Nunavik is also confronted to serious social, cultural and community issues that have to be addressed. It is very importance for the Inuit to be involved and become also partners in these projects for the betterment of Nunavik."

The discussion addressed many different elements of the recent developments, like what are the results of 10 year Nunavut, what makes Inuit in a fast changing world, influenced by globalization, still 'Inuit'. Pita Aatami and Jean François Arteau stressed the importance of hunting, even nowadays people have paid jobs, internet and mobile telephones, "Inuit have always been modern, we always have been adapting to new circumstances. But we still go out on the land during the weekends. We will stop to be Inuit when we no longer hunt.."

ACS^N Newsletter

What are the major benefits of self government? "The Inuit have developed a vision: to run our their own affairs with an autonomous government that is adapted to the realities of the Inuit and the in line with the country's fundamental legal framework", according to Pitaa Aatami.

Cunera Buijs

Learning Circles: Echoes from the past, poems for the future - February - May 2010

In 2000, ACSN member Bob Hofman started his company ICT&E, where the 7 C's of global learning became the theme of a global exploration. ICT&E works frequently with the Dutch Ministry of Education and the National Educational Portal "Kennisset." Through Kennisset, he coordinates the "Twinschool" project, which connects schools in Canada and the US on a 1:1 base to schools in the Netherlands.

ICT&E will link 24 Dutch and Canadian schools together; Dutch and Canadian WWII veterans and soldiers in Afghanistan will be consulted during the Learning Circles as source or expert. The product of this will be the various poems (written and on web clip) made by the pupils in their portfolio.

My life at Queen's University in Kingston - Nienke Hiemstra

December 18, 2009

Today is my last day in Kingston, and I can already look back on an amazing experience! I always wanted to study a period abroad, and last semester, I got the chance to study at Queen's University in Kingston as an exchange student. I am studying International Relations and International Organization at the University of Groningen and I decided to enroll in two politics courses and two geography courses at Queen's. I have definitely no regrets of this choice. All four courses were really interesting and I got the chance to study subjects from a different perspective. During the lectures there was a lot more interaction between the students and the professors than in the Netherlands. And another difference was that I had to write one or two essays and a final exam for each course, whereas in Groningen I normally have only one final exam.

During my stay in Kingston, I met so many new people, particularly other exchange students, and I made friends from all over the world. In the weekends, we often went on a trip. We visited Toronto, the Niagara Falls and Montreal, and we spent Thanksgiving in the beautiful Algonquin Park. I also took part in the buddy program of my faculty, Arts & Science, in which I was matched with a Canadian Queen's student. In this way, exchange students got really integrated in Queen's and Canadian life, and your buddy could help you when you were experiencing problems with all the things you had to sort out at the university.

People in Canada are the friendliest and most helpful people I have ever met. They are always interested in you and where you are from. Many Canadians have European roots and when you talk to Canadians it is amazing how often you get to hear the sentence 'oh I've been there' or 'my parents lived there'.

ACSNI Newsletter

I really enjoyed my time in Canada and I am so glad that I decided to apply to study a semester abroad a year ago. I would like to thank ACSNI for the contribution. I got the chance to get the most out of my time here and it made my stay in Canada a real success! I love the country and will definitely go back again!

Nienke Hiemstra

NEWS FROM ICCS

Canadian electronic library

The Canadian Publishers Collection of the Canadian Electronic Library contains full-text access to over 10,000 scholarly books on Canada, published by the most important Canadian scholarly presses. The CEL is a special service restricted to members of Canadian Studies Associations and Associate Members of the ICCS, and is available in part thanks to the financial assistance of the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade. The ICCS is pleased to announce that in addition to the Canadian Publishers Collection, a second collection is now available: The Canadian Public Policy Collection, which contains more than 12,000 publications from Canadian public policy institutes, government agencies, advocacy groups, think-tanks, university research centres and other public interest groups. To access the CEL, you need to register to confirm your membership to a Canadian Studies Association or Associate Member of the ICCS. Please register here: http://www.iccs-ciec.ca/registerICCS_en.asp?shownav=3.

Canadian Electronic Library Now Available to ICCS Members

The International Council for Canadian Studies has just announced the launch of its Web Resources Portal, which includes access for worldwide members to the Canadian Electronic Library, hosted on the multilingual ebrary platform. Canada's largest online book collection, the CEL delivers copyright books and documents to subscribers in an online environment built for scholarly use. Two collections in the CEL are being made available to ICCS members:

- Canadian Publishers Collection (CPC): Over 10,000 books from over 60 Canadian publishers, including all the major scholarly presses.
- Canadian Public Policy Collection (CPPC): Monograph publications from Canadian public policy institutes, government agencies, advocacy groups, think-tanks, university research centres and other public interest groups. The organizations included in this collection represent the leading edge of primary research and opinion in all areas of Canadian public policy. Over 12,000 titles currently.

Join ICCS on Facebook

The ICCS is pleased to participate in the creation of a communication network for the new generation in Canadian Studies through the use of Facebook. The platform is especially aimed at students, young researchers but also at experienced Canadianists. The ICCS has many activities, scholarships, grants and services for the new generation of Canadianists. The Facebook site will be the ideal place to exchange ideas, ask questions, announce events, etc. related to Canadian Studies. To join, go to <http://www.facebook.com/group.php?v=wall&gid=335792990176>.

ACSNI Newsletter

CONFERENCES AND COURSES

Practicum at the Assemblée nationale du Québec - call for applications

The AIEQ (Association internationale d'études québécoises), with the collaboration of the Assemblée nationale of Québec, is proud to offer a practical training at the Direction des relations interparlementaires et internationales of the Assemblée nationale du Québec. This full time paid practicum of close to four months will take place from August 30th to December 10th, 2010 and is designed for students registered in a university program outside of Quebec. The deadline to submit an application is March 20th, 2010. For further details, visit:

<http://www.aieq.qc.ca/aide/offre.de.stage.ANQ.2010.pdf> or send an email to accueil@aieq.qc.ca.

La souvegarde de l'architecture moderne au Quebec, au Canada et ailleurs - call for papers

This colloquium is designed to evaluate the preservation of the modern made-man heritage in Quebec and in Canada, a legacy that stands out through its abundance, unfamiliarity, frailty and obsolescence. It will be held from October 14th to 16th, 2010, at the Université du Québec, in Montreal. Researchers and professionals interested in submitting a proposal for communication can send their proposal by email to Ms. France Vanlaethem, at institutdupatrimoine@uqam.ca. The deadline to submit a proposal for communication is March 15th, 2010. For further details, visit <http://www.aieq.qc.ca/bulletins/2009/12/appel.architecture.moderne.pdf>.

The Americas: When one is not enough - International Utrecht Network Summer School 2010

The Summer School Project is an initiative of Utrecht Network that offers a platform for students and teachers from international universities, to engage in the interdisciplinary analysis of new conceptual approaches for a redefinition of the Americas, in times of worldwide globalization, where geopolitical boundaries no longer suffice to mark a clear difference between different cultures and concepts of national identities. It is open to any highly motivated student, at the undergraduate, postgraduate or doctoral levels, within any program allowing for the recognition of the summer school courses within their study program. Registration:

http://www.uni-graz.at/zas1www/zas1www_summer_school1/zas1www_summer_school1-3.htm.

For more information, visit the Centre for the Study of the Americas of the University of Graz website at <http://www.uni-graz.at/summerschoolamericas>. The deadline to send an application is March 26th, 2010.

Canada and the new south - call for papers

The Southern Association for Canadian Studies will hold its 2010 Biennial Conference being from October 7th to 10th, 2010, in Nashville, Tennessee and is seeking proposals for papers on related topics in the following general tracks: the Arts, Film and Literature; Commerce and Trade (including economics and energy); History, Sociology, Anthropology and Geography; Government and Public Policy; Defense and National Security; Science, Resources and the Environment; Quebec and the New South; Popular Culture; Teaching and administrative Issues in Canadian Studies. All proposals should be submitted by June 1st, 2010, by email sent to SACS President at rparker@highpoint.edu. For more information, visit website <http://www.sacscanada.org/conCFP.pdf>, or send an email to the above mentioned email address.

ACSN Newsletter

Just watch me!" 40th anniversary of the October crisis and war – call for papers

This workshop will be held from October 5th to 8th, 2010 at the University of Carleton in Ottawa. It seeks to encourage discussion on various political, cultural, and social perspectives of the October Crisis, the non-accessibility of archival documents from this period and to gather research on the testimonies and narratives of the event with a particular interest in the role of the October Crisis in forging public memory of the Quebec nation, with a stress on how the immigrants lived through this event. Proposals for communication should be submitted by email, no later than April 1st, 2010, to Professor Patrizia Gentile at patrizia_gentile@carleton.ca and/or Anne Trépanier at anne_trepanier@carleton.ca. For more details, visit website <http://www.aieq.qc.ca/bulletins/2010/01/appel.just.watch.me.pdf>.

Towards critical multiculturalism: dialogues between/among Canadian diasporas – call for papers

This conference organized by the University of Silesia and Jagiellonian University, in Cracow, Poland, will be held from October 7th to 9th, 2010, in Cracow. The Congress organizers cordially invite interested scholars, writers, artists and activists to submit papers on any topic pertaining to the problem of cultural encounters between/among Canadian diasporic and Indigenous groups. Interdisciplinary perspectives are encouraged. Submissions from postgraduate students at any stage of their research are also welcome. All proposals for communication must be sent by email to congress.pacs@gmail.com, no later than March 1st, 2010. For more information, visit website http://www.cecanstud.cz/index.php?option=com_content&view=frontpage&Itemid=1.

MANECCS Biennial conference on Canadian studies – call for papers

The Middle Atlantic and New England Council for Canadian Studies invites you to their biennial scholarly conference on Canada, to be held September 30th to October 3rd, 2010, at the Hilton Providence in stately Providence, Rhode Island. Proposals on any field of Canadian Studies should be submitted electronically to both of the conference co-chairs: Marsha Tate, The Pennsylvania State University (mat1@psu.edu) and Robert Timko, Mansfield University of Pennsylvania (rtimko@mansfield.edu). Students of Canada at all levels of scholarly endeavour are encouraged to participate. The deadline to submit abstracts is April 2nd, 2010. For more information, visit website <http://www.maneccs.org/> or send an email to one of the co-chairs at the above mentioned email addresses.

La Francophonie Américaine/The French North American experience: tributaries and confluences Call for papers

The seventeenth Biennial Conference of the American Council for Québec Studies will be held at the Burlington Hilton, Burlington, Vermont, from November 4th to 7th, 2010. The Program Chair, Dr. Amy Reid, welcomes submissions pertaining to the conference theme and to all topics pertaining to the study of Québec and French North America. Submissions and presentations may be made either in English or en français. The deadline for submission of proposals is April 15th, 2010. All proposals for communication must be sent by email at acqs@maine.edu. For more information, visit website http://www.acqs.org/biennial_conf/call_papers.html or send an email to the above mentioned address.

ACSNI Newsletter

Migrations: Scientific perspectives and mediations - call for papers

This international colloquium organized by the Musée de la civilisation in cooperation with the Centre de recherche en civilisation canadienne-française and the Centre interuniversitaire d'études québécoises, will be held in Québec, at the Musée de la civilisation, from November 4th to 6th, 2010. All proposals for communication should be submitted by March 26th, 2010, to colloquemigrations@mcq.org. For further details, visit website <http://h-net.msu.edu/cgi-bin/logbrowse.pl?trx=vx&list=H-Canada&month=0912&week=d&msg=Pp002i6YIxZpqqphfldChA>, or contact Mr. John Willis at John.Willis@civilisations.ca.

Metafictional Canada/Le Canada Métafictionnel - call for papers

The 4th International Unconventional Conference of Young Canadianists, organized by the Canadian Studies Centre in Baia Mare, Romania, will be held from April 8th to 10th, 2010. Individuals interested in submitting a proposal for communication must do so by email, by March 1st, 2010, to Mihaela Topan at latopan@gmail.com (for proposals written in English) and to Andrea Mutter at andreea_mutter@yahoo.com (for proposals written in French). For further details: http://www.cecanstud.cz/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=153:4e-conference-internationale-nonconventionnelle-des-jeunes-canadianistes-le-canada-metafictionnel&catid=3:newsflash.

RESOURCES

Using English effectively - by Ged Martin

Using English Effectively is part of the website of Ged Martin, who was formerly professor of Canadian Studies at the University of Edinburgh. It is mainly intended to help students in Britain and Ireland, but may be useful elsewhere. There are five sections dealing with problem words (2 sections), pairs, the use of apostrophe and a recent section called Pronunciation for Presentation. This resource is free and can be accessed at website <http://www.gedmartin.net/>.

The newest edition of Canada Year Book (CYB) 2009 is now available

Canada Year Book has been the premier reference on Canada since 1867. It's not surprising that previous editions have sold out. There are so many reasons for Canada Year Book's success over the years—clear charts and tables, detailed breakdowns of statistics and trends, the most current data—not to mention that it's fun as well as fascinating! <http://www.statcan.gc.ca/ads-annonces/11-402-x/index-eng.htm> or Infostats@statcan.gc.ca

Latest issue of Quebec info

Quebec info is an electronic bulletin published every second month, for the benefit of an international readership, specialist in Quebec studies, Quebecers living abroad, foreign students and students in training living in Quebec, etc. The latest issue of Quebec info can be viewed online at website <http://www.quebecmonde.com/quebecinfo/>.

ACSNI Newsletter

Canadian committee on migration, ethnicity and transnationalism (CCMET)

The CCMET was established in June, 2009, during the annual meeting of the Canadian Historical Association (CHA). It was created to foster and facilitate collaboration among historians working in this field. Through its listserv, it circulates details about upcoming conferences, requests for panel participants, and calls for papers. Those interested in the history of migrations, ethnicity, transnationalism and related subjects are invited to join the CCMET at website <http://groups.google.com/group/CHA-MET>. For more information, contact Ms. Laura Madokoro at lmadok@interchange.ubc.ca.

Cities of Migration project

Cities of Migration project seeks to improve local integration practice in major immigrant receiving cities worldwide through information sharing and learning exchange. It is anchored by a collection of "Good Ideas in Integration." Under the themes of Work, Live, Learn, Connect and Plan, users will discover Good Ideas in the integration of urban migrants that can be adapted locally or inspire new thinking in this important dimension of city prosperity and growth. For more information on the Cities of Migration project, visit website <http://citiesofmigration.ca/lang/en/>.

Current issue of Canadian architect is now available

The Centro Cultural Canadá de Córdoba is pleased to offer to all, free of charge, as a pdf file, the October issue of Canadian Architect magazine. It can be downloaded from Website <http://depositfiles.com/es/files/64fj40ab5>. Canadian Architect is designed for professionals in the field of architecture, but targets also all Centro Canadá members interested in culture and innovation in Canada. For further details, send an email to Mr. Emilio Polo at centrocanada.cba@gmail.com.

Think Canada! - latest issue now available.

Please note that the latest issue of Think Canada is now available and can be downloaded from website <http://www.acsus.org/display.cfm?id=276&Sub=296>. Think Canada! is a biannual publication from ACSUS with in depth coverage of developments and activity in Canada-US academic relations and the personalities and institutions on the leading edge.

Securite mondiale - latest issue

The November-December issue of Sécurité mondiale, an electronic bulletin published by the Institut québécois des hautes études internationales of the Université Laval, is now available online. It sheds a new light on the secure supply of water in Canada and the question of massive transfers of water. Author Patrick Forest highlights all the risks associated to future projects of diverting water basin that are currently that flow to James Bay. For more information, visit http://www.hei.ulaval.ca/fileadmin/hei/documents/documents/Section_Publications/Securite_mondiale/Securitemondiale42-Nov_Dec09.pdf.

Canadian environmental history podcast episode 10 available

This episode of the podcast explores this question in the context of the recent NiCHE Digital Infrastructure API Workshop held in Mississauga, Ontario. It includes a round-table conversation with some leading figures in the realm of digital history as well as an interview with Jan Oosthoek, the producer and host of the Exploring Environmental History podcast. To download this new episode, visit website <http://niche-canada.org/naturespast>. To send questions or comments, visit <http://seankheraj.wordpress.com/>.

ACSN Newsletter

University of Toronto Press - now on Facebook

Please note that several University of Toronto Press journals are now available online on Facebook. Readers and authors now have access to notice of tables of contents of forthcoming issues, author and editor commentaries and insights, calls for papers and advice on publishing in journals. For more information, visit website <http://www.facebook.com/utpjournals>, or send an email to journals@utpress.utoronto.ca.

JOURNALS

Journal of New Brunswick Studies/Revue d'Études sur le Nouveau-Brunswick

JNBS/RÉNB is an online, multidisciplinary journal that will feature peer-reviewed research and commentary about New Brunswick in English and French. The only such journal of its kind in New Brunswick, JNBS/RÉNB seeks to become a forum for ideas and debate about the province and its place in the wider Canadian and global contexts. For the inaugural issue, the editorial board invites papers that examine New Brunswick from social, historical, cultural, and policy-related perspectives. The deadline to submit a proposal is March 31st, 2010. For more information, visit website <http://www.h-net.org/announce/show.cgi?ID=171992> or contact Dr. Michael Boudreault or Tony Tremblay by email at editor.jnbs@stu.ca.

Littérature de Jeunesse et Francophonie du Canada et d'ailleurs : histoire, sciences, culture et littérature - call for papers

Éducation et francophonie, the ACELF's (Association canadienne d'éducation de langue française) peer reviewed scientific journal, invites proposals of articles on the above mentioned theme. The deadline to submit an article is February 26th, 2010. For further details, visit website <http://www.acelf.ca/c/revue/appel-articles/index.php> or send an email to the ACELF at lainey@acelf.ca.

The Metis in Canada - call for papers

The editors of a proposed book of peer reviewed essays on the Métis in Canada are seeking submissions of new and unpublished papers. Collectively, this major collection of essays on the Métis in Canada will be a valuable contribution to scholarship on Métis history, Métis identity, Métis rights, and the politics of the Métis people. Papers should be submitted by May 30th, 2010 for publication in 2011. All submissions must be sent to Dr. Christopher Adams by email at adamsc@cc.umanitoba.ca. For more information, visit website <http://www.h-net.org/announce/show.cgi?ID=172968>.

Forced migration: Challenges and change - call for papers

The annual conference of the Canadian Association for Refugee and Forced Migration Studies (CARFMS) will be held from May 6th to 8th, 2010, at Mc Master University, Hamilton, Ontario.

ACSN Newsletter

It will bring together researchers, policymakers, displaced persons and advocates from diverse disciplinary and regional backgrounds to discuss the changes and challenges faced in the field of forced migration. We invite participants from a wide range of perspectives to explore the practical, experiential, policy-oriented, legal and theoretical questions raised by different processes of change affecting forced migrants at the local, national, regional and international levels. All proposals for communications must be submitted by February 25th, 2010 via the conference website at <http://carfmsconference.yorku.ca/>. For more information, please contact Ms Heather Johnson at johnsohl@mcmaster.ca.

Canadian Journal of History - call for reviewers

The Canadian Journal of History, Annales canadiennes d'histoire, Canada's premier journal for the general study of world histories, seeks reviewers for books in a range of fields and topics, particularly with Latin America, Asia, and ancient and medieval Europe. Interested scholars should visit website <http://www.usask.ca/history/cjh> for guidelines and a list of available books. New reviewers must fill out the online form for reviewers, easily accessed at the same website.

Studies in Social Justice

The Editors of Studies in Social Justice, an interdisciplinary journal that publishes work linking theory to social change and the analysis of substantive issues, invite submissions all year round. It is published twice yearly by the Centre for Studies in Social Justice, University of Windsor. This electronic journal publishes articles on issues dealing with the social, cultural, economic, political, and philosophical problems associated with the struggle for social justice. Individuals interested in submitting articles for publication should visit website <http://www.studiesinsocialjustice.org> or contact Ms. Nicole A. Noël by email at nnoel@uwindsor.ca.

Argentinean Journal of Canadian Studies - call for papers

The Argentinean Journal of Canadian Studies (RAEC), an annual publication of the Argentinean Association of Canadian Studies (ASAEC), is devoted to the publication and promotion of scientific works and is oriented to a mainly academic audience from all fields of knowledge and with special emphasis on the topic of Canada. Individuals interested in submitting a proposal for communication must do so by April 30th, 2009, to one of the Canadian Centres in Argentina. For more information, visit website <http://www.asaec.com/> or send an email to Dr. Cristina Elgue at celue@fl.unc.edu.ar.

INTERNSHIPS, FELLOWSHIPS, VISITORSHIPS AND AWARDS

Fellowships opportunity University of Toronto

The Canadian Studies program at University College, the University of Toronto, offers a limited number of non-stipendiary fellowships to visiting scholars. Fellows will be provided with office space and free access to the University of Toronto library system. They are expected to contribute to the intellectual life of the Canadian Studies program and to University College. Applications are welcome from scholars in any discipline, from inside and outside Canada, who will undertake research on Canada during their visit. For more information contact Professor Emily

ACSN Newsletter

Gilbert by email at canst.director@utoronto.ca or visit website <http://www.uc.utoronto.ca/content/view/107/645/>.

Visiting Canadian studies scholars Duke University

The Center for Canadian Studies at Duke University invites applications from Canadian Studies scholars who have research grants and/or sabbatical leaves and would like to spend time in residence at Duke as Visiting Scholars during the 2010-2011 academic year. Applicants must have obtained their Ph.D. (or equivalent professional degree) and have permanent institutional appointments or post-doctoral funding. A letter of interest indicating proposed timing of residency, a CV, and a description of the research project must be sent by regular mail to Prof. Jane Moss, Director, Center for Canadian Studies, John Hope Franklin Center, Duke University, Box 90422, 2204 Erwin Rd., Durham, NC 27708, or by email to jmm91@duke.edu. For more information, visit website <http://www.jhfc.duke.edu/canadianstudies/index.html>.

Attention FEP, FRP and Canadian studies awards holders!

The Institute of Canadian Studies provides research visitorships to scholars who wish to come to Ottawa to work on Canadian-related projects. The visitorships are designed for sabbaticants and those holding research grants in Canadian studies or for those who want to produce teaching tools on Canada. Located near the National Archives, the National Library and an array of museums, the University of Ottawa's Institute of Canadian Studies is the ideal place to conduct research on Canada. The Institute provides library privileges, computing facilities, technical support and university affiliation. Visitors can also call on the Mitel Data Analysis Centre, a computer facility providing access to many online databases. Visitorships can range from two weeks to six months and are renewable if space is available. To apply for a research visitorship at the Institute of Canadian Studies, please complete the online form and submit it to the Institute. For additional information, please contact Louise Verner (lverner@uottawa.ca) or David Staines (dstaines@uottawa.ca), or visit the site at http://www.canada.uottawa.ca/eng/international_visitorship.html.

Please note: The rounds for 2010-11 have now closed, but keep this page bookmarked for possible future opportunities.

Canadian history of education association founders' prize 2010

Five prizes acknowledging the excellence of contributions to educational history will be awarded by the Canadian History of Education Association (CHEA/ACHE) at its 16th Biennial Conference from October 21st to 24th, 2010 at Novotel Toronto North York. The winners will receive a certificate of achievement and their names will be published in Historical Studies in Education/Revue d'histoire de l'éducation. Nominations can be submitted until April 30th, 2010 and sent by email at sburke@laurentian.ca. For more information, visit Website <http://www.ache-chea.ca/eng/founders.php>.

Gaston-Miron Excellence 2010 award - call for applications

This award granted by the AIEQ (Association internationale des études québécoises) is designed to encourage a foreign student to come to Quebec and spend a semester studying Quebec literature. The deadline to submit an application is March 20th, 2010. For more information, visit website <http://www.aieq.qc.ca/aide/formulaire.miron.2010.pdf> or send an email to accueil@aiequ.qc.ca.

ACSN Newsletter

Prix Pierre-et-Yolande-Perrault 2010 - appel de candidatures

The Association internationale des études québécoises (AIEQ) announce the 2010 competition for the Pierre-et-Yolande-Perrault Award, worth $5,000 CA. This award is designed for students at the Masters or Ph.D. level in a Quebec of foreign university, or to someone at the beginning of his or her university career (no more than 4 years after graduation) et must commit to research on media writing as did Pierre Perrault (theatre, movies, radio and television). The deadline to submit an application is March 1st, 2010. For further details, visit website <http://www.aieq.qc.ca> or send an email to info@aieq.qc.ca.

Marie-Thérèse-Réverchon post-doctoral award - call for applications

The Département de langue et littérature françaises of McGill University, with the support of the Faculty of Arts, invites applications for the Marie-Thérèse-Réverchon Post Doctoral award, intended for a PhD student who wishes to spend a year of teaching and research while attached to the Department. Applications must be sent through regular mail to the following address: Mr. Michel Biron, Directeur, Département de langue et littérature françaises, McGill University, 853, Sherbrooke West, Montreal (Quebec) H3A 2T6. For more information, visit website <http://www.aieq.qc.ca/bulletins/2009/10/appel.bourse.reverchon.pdf> or send an email to Mr. Biron at michel.biron@mcgill.ca.

ICCS PROGRAMS

Graduate Student Scholarships

To facilitate the renewal of the community of Canadianists by supporting the work of young scholars, by enabling successful candidates to spend 4-6 weeks at a Canadian university or research site other than their own doing research related to their thesis or dissertation in the field of Canadian Studies. http://www.iccs-ciec.ca/GSS-Guidelines_en.asp?shownav=2

Canadian Studies Postdoctoral Fellowships

To enable young Canadian and foreign academics who have completed a doctoral thesis on a topic primarily related to Canada and are not employed in a full-time, university teaching position to visit a Canadian or foreign university with a Canadian Studies program for a teaching or research fellowship. http://www.iccs-ciec.ca/POSTDOC-Guidelines_en.asp?shownav=2

Best Doctoral Thesis in Canadian Studies

This ICCS Award is designed to recognize and promote each year an outstanding PhD thesis on a Canadian topic, written by a member (or one of his/her students) of a Canadian Studies Association or Associate Member, and which contributes to a better understanding of Canada. http://www.iccs-ciec.ca/BestThesis-Guidelines_en.asp?shownav=2

ACSNI Newsletter

Faculty Enrichment program

This is a program of the Government of Canada to increase knowledge and understanding of Canada abroad by assisting academics in higher education institutions to develop and teach courses about Canada in their own discipline, as part of their regular teaching load. The program enables academic award holders to come to Canada and gather the necessary information and material to devise a new course on Canada. Deadline is October 31 of each year. More information: http://www.iccs-ciec.ca/pages/5_govprogs/b_FEP_countries/netherlands.html

Faculty Research Program

This program is designed to assist individual academics in higher education institutions to undertake short-term research about Canada or on an aspect of Canada's bilateral relations with the participating countries. The purpose is to increase knowledge and understanding of Canada through publication of pertinent articles in the foreign or international scholarly press. The award assists with direct costs related to the research project, and, when a research trip to Canada is warranted, provides assistance towards international airfare and a weekly flat rate allowance. http://www.iccs-ciec.ca/FRP_en.asp?shownav=4

Publishing Fund

To assist with the publication and distribution in Canada of scholarly monographs on Canada written by foreign Canadianists who are members of a Canadian Studies Association or Associate Member belonging to the International Council for Canadian Studies. This fund assists foreign Canadianists by granting financial aid to a recognized scholarly press once the work is published. The Fund may also grant financial assistance for the translation from English or French into a third language and from a third language into French or English. http://www.iccs-ciec.ca/pubfund_en.asp?shownav=2

Governor General's International Award for Canadian Studies

The Governor General's International Award for Canadian Studies is intended for a scholar who has made an outstanding contribution to scholarship and to the development of Canadian Studies internationally. http://www.iccs-ciec.ca/govgen_en.asp?shownav=2

Pierre Savard Awards

The Pierre Savard Awards are designed to recognize and promote each year outstanding scholarly monographs on a Canadian topic. The awards form part of a strategy that is aimed at promoting, especially throughout the Canadian academic community, works that have been written by members of the Canadian Studies international network. The awards are intended to designate exceptional books, which, being based on a Canadian topic, contribute to a better understanding of Canada. There are two categories: 1) Book written in French or English; 2) Book written in a language other than French or English http://www.iccs-ciec.ca/pierresav_en.asp?shownav=2

ICCS certificates of merit

The International Council for Canadian Studies bestows annually an international award of merit as a means to recognize the contribution of individuals to the development of Canadian Studies

February 2010

ACSNI Newsletter

in Canada and abroad. In most instances, the awards recognize institutional and organizational work. http://www.iccs-ciec.ca/certmer_en.asp?shownav=2

*The next newsletter will appear in June 2010; deadline for contributions: May 15, 2010. Everyone is most welcome to contribute! So if you have any news, a publication or a book review for us, let us know!
Please send contributions to: ACSNI@amandahelderman.com.*